

Dear Daddy & Mommy,

I have just received word from God that you are going to have a baby and that my life on earth will be lived as your son.

As I prepare to be born, I would like for you to know exactly how I will come to you...I don't want any surprises that will make you not want me.

I will come into your world with no instructions and no wisdom. I will be totally dependant on the both of you. I will need you to love me and care for me until I am grown, at which time I will have been educated exactly how you live your life.

I will love you both with all my heart and I will give you a reason to live...like no other reason you could ever dream possible.

There will be times when I will make you want to pull your hair out and times when you will be overwhelmed at the very existence of me in your world...but that is ok. So, when you think you want to pull out your hair, I will be standing there with the sweetest look on my face while trying to figure out what is wrong with you and then I will hug you like you have never been hugged before. I promise I will do something to make you know how very special I am...like bringing you a broken toy to fix, or bringing my muddy puppy in the house to give you a kiss.

I will be made from both your DNA and will have traits from the both of you and your families. That will make me a very special little boy, for there will be no other like me.

The one thing you must remember as I grow up, I am a gift from God and he made me from the both of you. I will need the kind of things that only a Mommy can give, and at the same time, I will need the kind of things that only a Daddy can give.

I am very excited about becoming your son, as I hope you are excited about becoming my Parents.

Always remember that you Mommy and you Daddy along with Me will be a family...no matter what happens in our lives...we will be connected forever.

I promise to love you both with all my heart and I asked that you never make me choose between the two of you.

Your Son Forever
