Mission Statement.

Our mission at Three Sides to Every Story is a very simple one. "Unity" for children and their families after divorce or separation is our goal.

Our founder found herself in the middle of the battle of her life when her son lost his children through divorce. The lies and fraud that were committed to keep these children away for eight very long years was something she did not want to relive...for she herself is the product of the same abuse and deception as a child.

We strive to bring awareness to the plight of the children and their families.

No child deserves to go to bed at night with the feeling of not being loved by both parents and both sides of grandparents and all of their extended family.

Our goal is to educate not only both parents, but to bring awareness to all those that help make the laws of our land.

"Children Need Both Parents" and by all means

"They Deserve to Have Loving Grandparents"
